PROCEEDINGS

(Court called to order.) (10:27 a.m.)

THE CLERK: Okay. Next up, your Honor, 11-CR-2236, Harold Wolfe. Right over here, sir.

THE COURT: Yeah. This is a hearing on the court's motion to basically 25, Rule 25 motion to vacate the felony conviction of vandalism. I think I may have just given you the heads-up on this because as I said, you know, I thought about the case afterwards, and I think that there was sufficient evidence on the required finding motion because the testimony of the two witnesses, the victim and the police officer, was credible.

MS. HOGAN: Uh-huh.

THE COURT: What -- and as I reflected upon it and what was somewhat nagging to me was the fact that we went out and actually looked at the car. There just was no damage. Now, the officer's credibly testified to seeing a dimple in the vehicle which may have been the case and those things can sort of fix themselves, so I don't know. That may have happened, so I was -- on my own motion and I'm just going to have a hearing on it. I know what your position is. You want me to vacate the vandalism.

MR. WOLFE: I'm just going to make a statement about the officer's remarks. Where was the officer?

THE COURT: No. It might be in -- it might be in your best interest to say nothing, quite frankly.

MR. WOLFE: No. I'm just saying where was the officer when this incident occurred and how can he make any remark about any damage? Where was he?

THE COURT: Yeah. See, you're -- this is what -- this is why -- okay. I hear you. I hear you, Mr. Wolfe, but I think it's probably in your best interest. I'm looking at it from a purely legal standpoint. Suffice it to say, sir, that your behavior at the trial and your behavior at the incident that was testified to that led us here was -- I -- despicable. It was -- it was a racially tinged assault upon a woman who was minding her own business.

It was -- it was offensive and it was criminal and it was certainly an assault and you certainly narrowed the -- you know, frankly, I probably shouldn't have just given you probation. I probably should have just sent you to jail, but I thought that, you know, the Commonwealth mentioned that mental health counseling might be appropriate. I thought, Well, all right. I'll have some -- some level of compassion upon you seeing that obviously that there's -- you are -- appear to be a somewhat angry and bitter man that maybe we can somehow get you a little bit of help so that you can get some insight into your behavior.

But anyway, I want to hear from the Commonwealth on the legal issue that -- that, you know, again, I so much struggled with afterwards.

MS. HOGAN: Your Honor, the Commonwealth would be objecting for the record. The Commonwealth does stand by the facts that came before your Honor and the testimony of the officer and the complaining witness. While I do recognize I went on the viewing as well and I completely understood the court's decision not to grant any restitution, again, the Commonwealth would object for the record.

However, I can say that it was the Commonwealth's position from day one and the complaining witness's position from day one is that mental health evaluation and follow-up and that's our main concern, so, again, I do think that we have met our burden, but I would defer to the court.

THE COURT: Yeah. I'm going to valid -- I'll vacate the felony vandalism count. A not guilty finding will enter on the court's own motion under Rule 25 of the rules of criminal procedure. The conviction for assault, a misdemeanor assault will stand. The sentence on that will stand. You remain on probation. You remain with a 30-day suspended sentence for the next -- almost a year now and I hope you succeed and I hope that somehow through whatever help that you can get through probation will gain some insight into your utterly and horrid behavior that day which carried into this courtroom on the day of trial and what I gather carried through the entire pretrial process in this case from what I gather.

And you can sit there and you can smirk all you want, but frankly, sir, if you're going to continue having this attitude about life and about things and about your behavior, then you most assuredly will be going back to jail for 30 days. Most assuredly, so say no more because frankly, sir, don't try my patience any more than you already have. Okay. That's it. Thank you very much. We'll take a very brief recess. (Motion adjourned at 10:32 a.m.)
